

About the Standard

Last Updated Friday, 23 July 2010

About the Standard

Accredit UK was devised by Advantage West Midlands and is funded by AWM as well as the National Computing Centre and the European Regional Development Fund.

About the Standard

Accredit UK is a standard that helps organisations pick out the best ICT Suppliers..

It measures and certifies businesses across six industry segments:

-

Communications (Network Design and Installation)

-

Software Product Design and Development

-

ICT Consultancy

-

Solutions and Support

-

e-Media and e-Commerce It gives us the opportunity to not just improve our own business, but also help shape something that we hope will become synonymous with quality and professionalism in the ICT arena.

Chris Arkwell, Managing Director, CDI Group Consultation Exercises

A critical aspect of Accredit UK is the way in which it is being continually developed. From the outset, it has been considered essential that it is written by the people who ultimately use it.

This has been done to address not only technical issues, but to make it as accessible as possible.

Accredit UK continues to involve a series of panels and workshops, involving a broad spectrum of organisations. These include:

-

Industry Membership Bodies;

-

Public Sector Organisations;

-

Large Corporations;

-

Small to Medium Suppliers and Purchasers;

-

Micro Businesses;

-

The Third Sector (charities, volunteer groups and social enterprises).

Only with the help and dedication of these people can Accredit UK be sure to meet the needs of those who use it.

Continued Development

Like any good business, Accredit UK is constantly improving. Therefore it still needs people to get involved. If you would like to volunteer for panels or workshops, or just want to voice your thoughts, then please get in touch.